Hands of Hope Incorporated (HOH) provides programs that lead a path toward breaking the cycle of poverty, improving education and assisting low to moderate income families to build resiliency. HOH has built its reputation through partnering with Anne Arundel County Behavioral and Prevention Services, Anne Arundel County Department of Healthy Teens and Young Adult Programs and other programs. The design of the programs allows families and individuals to access resources to aide them in becoming independent and a viable asset within the family and community.

During the upcoming year, HOH will take an active role to address minority cardiovascular disease and infant mortality, increase education and awareness to improve health disparities, and will focus on the impacts of social determinants health. HOC also plan to facilitate dialogue and advocate for the elimination of health disparities through community forums, mini health summits and local health coalitions.
