

Instructions & Table of Contents

Introduction

This workbook contains over 500 organizations that may be useful for soliciting input from small businesses or identifying data, when estimating the economic impact of a proposed regulation. Industry and trade associations are identified for twenty industries using the North American Industry Classification (NAICS) codes. All industries are not represented in this workbook; only industries for which a trade or industry association was identified are represented in this workbook. Subsequently, the trade and industry organizations listed in this workbook should not be seen as a definitive list. Rather, the information in this workbook is being provided to assist State agencies with identifying groups representing small businesses in the industries they regulate.

Using this Workbook

Trade and Industry Associations are listed under a three digit NAICS code, which represents a subsector of the broader industry identified by the two digit NAICS code used to identify the industry of each tab in the workbook. If an agency knows the type of business that a proposed regulation will affect, then an internet search of the industry along with "NAICS code" will identify the NAICS code for that industry. An internet search may yield a 6-digit NAICS code; however, this workbook does not use that level of detail. The first three digits of the NAICS code can be used to find an industry organization. For example, an internet search of "brewing NAICS code" will provide the code 312120. The first two digits "31" are used to identify the appropriate spreadsheet, which is Tab VIII - Manufacturing. After selecting that tab, using the first three digits "312" identifies the subsector of the industry on the spreadsheet, which is "Beverage & Tobacco Manufacturing." Several trade organizations for brewing are listed under this subsector.

To the extent possible, the phone number, address, and website are provided for trade and industry organizations. The use of "n/a" in any of these categories indicates that information for the category was not available. Agencies are encouraged to visit the website of a trade or industry organization. The website will have the most up-to-date contact information. Also, many websites include a contact page to submit questions. Finally, some organizations have data available on their websites that can be used for estimating economic impact.

As indicated in the Guidelines for Estimating and Minimizing the Economic Impact of Regulations on Small Businesses, agencies are encouraged to solicit input from as many organizations as possible. If a trade or industry organization is not listed in this workbook for the industry a State agency is regulating, then an internet search for a trade or industry association in that industry should be conducted.
