² Pending review cases may differ here than in other publicly released data sets due to differences in measure specifications from CMS and timing of data generation.
